HERD OF DEER.

Thirteen Fine Specimens Are Wintering on the Mounttains Near Trout Run.

A herd of thirteen deer are wintering on the mountains near Trout Run, and for the past two weeks many people have made trips to that place for the purpose of seeing the fleet footed animals in their wild state, says the Wellsboro Gazette. These deer have remained in the same vicinity for about two weeks, and can be easily seen from the public road that leads off to the north of the road to Liberty. about three and one-half miles from Trout Run. They are generally be found near Cotton Tail gap. They are all large, and are exceptionally fine specimens of the monarchs of the forest. They are always found in a herd, and it is not difficult to get within one hundred to one hundred and fifty yards of them. It is remarkable how tame these deers have grown. They almost seem to be fully aware of the fact that people are not allowed to disturb them, and are frightened but little at the sight ef a sleigh or vehicle. On account of the depth of the snow, which is over two feet. the animals are difficult to see unless by one who is experienced in finding them. When standing in the snow they often appear to be tree stumps. for when they are aware of the approach of some one they remain perfectly still like statues, and do not move until you make a noise or frighten them.

Sunday School Tour Party.

The State Sabbath School Tour Party held seevices in the First Presbyterian Church, Monday evening and all day Tuesday, giving delight and profit to the large numbers in attendance. Especially inspiring were the songs of the male quartette, composed of Messrs. Cork, Van Dyke, Landes, and Sawle. The central theme of the several addresses was evangelism as applied to Sunday School Work and highly valuable and convincing were the points elucidated in the various addresses. A spirit of happy fraternity characterized all the sessions. The pastors of the different churches participating by prayers, suggestions and questions in the deliberations. The consensus of sentiment as expressed was that the early coming to Christ of the child was of the utmost moment and that efforts to this end should be untiringly made.

A number of persons from out of town were in attendance and the interest awakened will no doubt be of enduring value.

Mrs. Roosevelt The Standard Bearer.

It is significent to your readers for some comment to be made on the matter of the gown worn by the President's wife at the inaugural celebration, since this highly honorable and honored lady has so distinguished herself, both in loyal patriotism, good taste and as standard bearer of American fashion.

One of the leading New York papers, on Sunday last, in speaking of this great inaugural occasion, came out in glowing terms of Mrs. Roosevelt's personality as the first lady in our justly prided Union. Her reception gown was the product of the William Strange silk mills, of Paterson, N. J., and a pattern somewhat like it, was seen by Mrs. Roosevelt at St. Louis Fair, which gave her dreams of a gown to be worn on this occasion, and when the fact was established that she must be the principle lady to the inauguration of the President, she wrote to this company and the pattern, so exquisite in every detail, was made expressly for her. It is of the most delicate fabric and tints of azure blue—that clear tint which holds its own beneath an artificial light and looks as lovely as though seen by light of day, a lustrous, clear blue satin which takes on a sheer of silver in certain lights and folds, and this added to the wonderful effect of great discs of softly glittering gold which were strewn over the satin with swallows almost innumerable dotting the gown. Feathers of rare variety were so affixed to harmonize with the delicate tint and trimmings as to render a magnificent poetic as well as artistic effect.

In this selection the President's wife chose our National color, which proves her patriotism, she chose American goods and American modists to make it up, which proves that she is wholly American, making a standard for all American women to follow. What is good enough for our Presidents wife is surely good enough for any lady in the land. Mrs. Roosevelt is a woman of good sound judgment, good taste and is of true American blood and is perfectly fitted for the position she so admirably occupies.

Class Work.

At their regular review Tuesday evening the ladies of Gladioli Hive, L. O. T. M., initiated a large class of candidates, 24 having been secured as a result of special work during February; the beautiful ritualistic work was admirably put on with full guard team and was very impressive, this order is rapidly coming to the front among the fraternals: our local hive now having a membership of 150. And expects to add still more in the near future the following ladies of Floral Hive, of Port Allegany, came over for the special work and were royally entertained while here: Mesdames Harriet, Elizabeth, and Ada Moses, Caden, Healey, Gallagher, Layman, Besse, Maynard, Barnaby, Backus, White, Dolway, St. Clair, Wrights, Vansickles, Holmes, Lamhafer, McGovern, Ballingsby and Miss Gerwick, and Mrs. LeBare, of Lock Haven.

The Editorial "We" Explained.

An exchange makes the following explanation: Somebody who wants to explain what the editorial "we" signifies, says its meaning varies to suit the circumstances. For instance when you read that "we expect our wife home to day" we refer to the editor and chief, when it's "we are a little late with our work" it includes the whole office even the devil and towel, if "we are having a boom," the town is meant; "we received over 700,000 emigrants last year," it embraces the hation, but "we have hog cholera in our midst" only refers to the illness of the man who takes the paper two or three years then ordered it stopped without paying for it.

The Best Yet.

Our Opera managers have been fortunate in securing for to-morrow evening, the 10th, the great play of heart interest "Dora Thorne." Competent critics who have seen it, pronounce it the best dramatized novel of the past few years. It will be presented with the original cast and scenery, and will no doubt duplicate its success in other cities here.

Warning.

The Knox Entertainment.

"The Story of the Scottish Reformation" given at the opera house last Thursday and Friday nights under the auspices of the First Presbyterian Church—was both instructive and entertaining and well deserved the generous patronage it received. The entertainment was a happy blending of lecture recital, stereoptican views and acted drama and so skillfully were these several features alternated as to hold the attention of the audience for two and one half hours and eventuate in a climax that was grand and beautiful. The various characters were in capable hands. Each gave evidence of an intelligent grasp of his part, imparting to it a meaning that was full of interest. Mr. McCaslin was very impressive and convincing as the Great Reformer while Miss Ritchie brought to the character of the unfortunate Queen the grace and beauty, the self possession and deep devotion that her difficult part demanded. The costumes were costly and beautiful, the various groupings, bathed in the rich radiance of the calcium lights, presenting pictures of loveliness not soon forgotten. The stereopticon views, chiefly of a historical character were distinct and satisfying while the discriptions and explanations by Mrs. Monroe were beautiful in diction and eloquent and forcible in delivery. The vocal solos by Misses Walker and Hogan and Mr. Walker were pleasing ly sung, while the choruses were exceedingly well rendered.

Miss Abbie Metzger presided at the piano with characteristic ability. In the processional she had the artistic assistance of Miss Walker on the violin. So far from engendering sectarian bitterness, the effect of the entertainment has been to promote amity and good will between the various denominations and lead to a better understanding of the differencess that honestly divide them.

The Gas Stove.

The use of gas stoves, without chimneys, is productive of unhealthy conditions within any room subjected to their influences. The New York Tribune says that they deplete the oxygen in all cases to an injurious degree. Having no chiminey, for the most part, they turn the product of combustion into the air of the room. At best this is oarbon dioxide, a natural gas, which taking the place or the oxygen, deprives the atmosphere of its life giving power. Perhaps through imperfect combustion carbon monoxide is produced, which is a powerfully active poison. The lack of a chimney means the lack of any circulation in a close room. An open fireplace, or even a coal stove, causes a circulation of air. Even with doors and windows shut, a large amount of heated air is drawn up the flue and fresh air is pulled in through cracks. A heater which requires combustion in a room with no vent for the vitiated air is an enemy to breath, should be avoided whenever possible, and should no more be left lighted at night in a sleeping room than should the charcal brazer, which is a favorite French instrument of suicide. The ordinary gas heater menaces life by another danger. It is commonly connected to the gas pipe by a more or less leaky tube, not infrequently, either by the strain upon the connections or by actually blowing flames, filling houses with poisonous unburned gas Citizens need to be greatly on their guard against the dangers in the trail of the gas pipe.

Western Party.

Last Tuesday morning a party consisting of L. K. Huntington, B. A. Slocum, Allie Hamilton and Wayme Hamilton, left for Oregon to engage in lumbering. Mr. Huntington expects to return in six weeks. We wish these gentlemen great success.

Bowling Match.

A contest between Coxy's Army and The Invincibles, last Monday night resulted in a victory for the Invincibles. The contest was a short one, two games instead of three being played. This was on account of George Walker, Jr., fearing the night air would be bad for the boys, so started them home early. Coxy's Army say it was because of their possibility of winning, but, no doubt, the parties of war differ.

Eye Specialist.

Prof. W. H. Budine, the well known Eye Specialist, of Binghamton, N. Y., will be at R. H. Hirsch's jewelry store, Emporium, Pa, March 10th and 11th. "Dora Thorne," coming to Emporium next Friday, March 10, is something our theatre patrons have been waiting for, a chance to see in playform the interesting novel which every reader knows so well. The play has been carefully constructed, and follows the trials and tribulations of "Dora" to a happy ending.

Last Monday we received from Mrs. Egbert T. Osborn, a copy of The Sentinel Record, of Hot Springs, Ark., al so a copy of the "400" a magazine containing many beautiful views of Hot Springs. A Coudersport woman, who purchased a safety razor for her husband as a Chritmas gift compells him to put ten cents in a tin bank every time he shaves himself. She is now looking for a machine with which he can cut his hair that her rake off may be larger. The poor man is wondering what will be her next move.

A teacher in one of our schools asked one of her little girls to tell what she knew about the backbone. The child slid to her feet trembling and embarassed. She rubbed her little hands up and down her hips and began. "The backbone is a bone that runs down your back and holds your ribs together, and keeps you from being legs clear to the neck."

A few days ago a Lancaster county farmer tested some snow to learn whether the present supply would be melted by rain or the sun. The result answered, by sun. He suspended a large snow ball and held a lighted candle under it, a hole was melted through the ball without any drop pings. Had there been any drops of water he said it would have been certain the lay of snow would have been taken away by rain, as there was not the snow will be lead off by the sun.

Try this: Take the number of your living brothers; double this amount; add to it three; multiply the result by five; add to it the number of living sisters multiply by ten add number of deaths of brothers and sisters, subtract 150 from the result. The right hand figure will be the number of deaths; the middle figure will be the number of living sisters; the left hand figure will show number of living brothers. Can you explain it?

The story of "Dora Thorne" is too familiar a one to permit of much comment, but as a play it is provoking widespread interest, and much surprise is manifest that so successful a novel in the day and time of bookplays has not found its way before the footlights long ere this. Brimful of exciting and interesting situations and affording such numerous opportunities for excellent acting "Dora Thorne" is indeed replete with all the essentials to make a most delightful play. "Dora Thorne" will be seen at the opera house next Friday evening, March 10.

The Observer.

It was the privilege of the Observer to attend a number of the sessions of the Institute held under the direction of the State Sunday School Association in the Presbyterian Church this week. The Observer must confess that he went with some misgivings because it was understood that the speakers would lay great stress upon the subject of evangelistic work in the Sunday schools. "Evangelistic" is in itself an excellent word, one which should always savor of glad tidings, but unfortunately in the minds of many it is associated with the emotional excesses and lurid appeals which in times past have attended revivals. The expression, "evangelistic work in the Sunday schools," seemed, moreover, to imply that the children of the Sunday school most of whom are baptized members of the Church, are to be regarded as children of the world and of the devil until such time as they may be brought to pass through a certain crisis termed conversion. Great therefore was the relief and satisfaction of the Observer when he discovered that the Institute had in mind the inauguration of no such crusade as this upon the children. The whole spirit of the Institute was in keeping with the assumption that the children are the lambs of Christ's flock to be carefully fed and nurtured in a Christian atmosphere. If this kind of work be "evangelistic," we cannot have too much of it.

One of the speakers made an appeal to the parents to surround the children with good literature in the homes. He rightly contended that the only effective way to prevent children from reading bad literature is to cultivate in them a taste for what is good. In this connection, the Observer desires to utter an emphatic protest against the admission to our homes of the comic supplements of the Sunday editions of many of our newspapers. These grotesque pictures of tramps, foxy grandpas, and precocious, tricky youngsters, not only deprave the aesthetic taste of the young boys who gloat over them, making them incapable of appreciating pictures of real artistic merit; but they also instil in those who look at them the spirit of disrespect and contempt. These pictures of the yellow journals invariably represent somebody as playing a trick upon somebody else, or as outwitting somebody else. The type of humor to which they appeal is that which laughs at the ignominious plight of another or that which finds delight in the grotesque and ugly.

One expects the New York World and American and the Philadelphia North American to publish such disgusting supplements, but it has always been a mystery to the Observer why such a clean and reliable and dignified paper as the Philadelphia Press should nevertheless publish such an offensive and harmful section of its Sunday edition.

Birthday Dancing Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Housler gave a dancing party in the reading Room, Tuesday evening in honor of their son Frank's thirteenth birthday. Forty-eight little folk were in attendance and tripped lightly to piano music rendered by Mrs. Geo. Metzger, Jr., until 11 o'clock p. m. The grand march was led by Master Frank Housler and Miss Kate Metzger. Refreshments were served during intermission. It was a delightful evening for the youngsters and the grown people who were spectators let their thoughts wonder back to a few (?) years ago.

The ladies who assisted Mr. and Mrs. Housler in making this such an enjoyable occasion were Mesdames McDougall, Cloyes, Logan, Kelly and Moore.

Master Frank was the recipient of many beautiful presents and best wishes for a great many happy birthdays.

Ragtime Party.

A ragtime party was given by the Ragtime Club, last Saturday night, in the Reading Room. The young ladies were all dressed in real rag time clothes, and all danced to ragtime music. A most enjoyable time was had. Out of town guests were: Mr. Cyril Youtz and Mr. Gregory Mohr, of Renovo; Miss Nettie Grosbeck, of Port Allegheny and Miss Etta Fochtman, of St. Marys.

Missionary Collection.

With an attendance of two hundred and thirty the Sunday School of the First Methodist Church, last Sunday gave missionary collection of forty seven dollars, making a total for the year of two hundred and seven dollars—an advance.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

PLAISTED.

Daniel Plaisted died at his home in the town of Milo, N. Y., Friday morning, February 24, aged 84 years, rheumatism being the cause of death. Deceased is survived by a widow and three sons, Fred and Chas. of Penn Yan; Daniel Jr., and one daughter, Mrs. E. H. Reynolds. who reside in Milo —Yates County (N. Y.,) Chronicle.

NORRIS.

Mrs. H. M. Norris died at the Kane Summit Hospital Tuesday morning at 4:30 o'clock. Deceased had been ill since the first of the year, suffering from tubercular troubles She came to Kane from Marlington, West Virginia, about a month ago, to see if the climate would not prove beneficial. Everything that medical skill could devise was done, but without avail.

Nellie Sweeney was born at Olean, N. Y, and came to Kane when quite young, where she resided the greater part of her life. She was a favorite with all with whom she was acquainted; of a genial disposition, and was ever ready to help her friends. She was married to Mr. H. M. Norris in September, 1902. Mr. and Mrs. Norris moved to Shinglehouse soon after they were married, from which place they went to Marlington, West Virginia.

Mrs. Norris is survived by a husband, an infant son, aged about eight months, four brothers and two sisters —Kane Republican.

Mr. "Heck" Norris is the brother of our townsman, Mr. John Norris, and for many years a resident of Emporium. Mr. John Norris, and Fred Norris left on mail yesterday to attend the funeral which will be held in Kane today.

A Divorce to Ten Marriages.

During 1904, twenty-three libels in divorce were issued in Clinton county. During the same period there were 230 marriage licences issued. This shows that for every ten marriages performed there was one application for divorce. This needs no further comment. If divorces continue to increase as they have for the last few years, marriage will soon be a farce. Right-minded people from all parts of the country are becoming aroused and are demanding some decisive legislation to stop the terrible menace to the home.

Last year the importations of wild animals into the United States were valued at $121,039, of which $23,519 was for scientific and educational purposes, and paid no duty, $19,580 in duties being collected on the rest, which were imported by circuses and private menageries. In 1903 the wild beasts imported were valued at $147,544.

The courage and valor for which the Japanese are famous is instilled into them from their earliest infancy, says a Japanese writer. When a baby cries his mother scolds him, and says: "What a coward to cry for a trifling pain; what will you do when your arm is cut off in battle? What when you are called upon to commit hara-kiri?"

Aided by wings the ostrich is the fastest runner, sometimes making 98 feet a second. In measured flights the Virginia rainpiper has a record of 7,500 yards a minute and the European swallow has exceeded 8,000 yards. The slowest creatures are snails and certain small beetles, a healthy snail's highest speed being five and one-half inches an hour.

Eli Whitney, the inventor of the cotton gin, got the germ of his great idea from seeing, through the interstices of a hut, an old Negro work a handsaw among the freshly-picked cotton stored within. The teeth of the saw tore the lint from the seed easily and quickly, and young Whitney (he was barely 13 at the time), realized at once that a machine working a number of similar saws simultaneously would revolutionize the cotton-growing industry.

More than 16,000,000 pupils, or 20.04 per cent. of the entire population, were enrolled in the common schools of the United States in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1904. The total school enrollment for the year, including public and private, elementary, secondary and higher education, was 17,539,478 pupils, and to this there should be an addition made for evening schools, business schools, private kindergartens, Indian schools, state schools for defectives, orphans, etc., 648,440.

The report on crops, live stock, etc., in Manitoba in 1904, shows the total grain crop of that province to have been equivalent to 90,055,113 Winchester bushels, as compared with 85,108,649 bushels in the previous year, an increase for 1904 of 4,946,464 bushels. The area upon which this grain crop was produced in 1904 is given at 3,763,567 acres, as compared with 3,670,196 acres in 1903; in 1904 was included for the first time a small area of 2,471 acres devoted to the culture of corn. The figures are from the Manitoba department of agriculture.

The government of the United States occasionally imports a wild beast for the zoo at Washington, which is under the Smithsonian institution, but most of the animals out there have been presented. But Uncle Sam imports immense quantities of bugs. One particular kind of bug imported by the United States from Australia has earned $5,000,000 or $6,000,000 every year for 15 years, and has never received any wages. Another bug imported from Russia saved the farmers of Ohio and Indiana at least $45,000,000 in the year 1900.

Effusion of blood to the brain and disturbance of the digestive system are no doubt the chief causes of seasickness; and certainly those of weak digestion are particularly susceptible to it. Then it is undeniable that most people on board ship eat too much and take too little exercise. The overindulgence in the rich and sometimes greasy dishes at the elaborate meals on the big ocean liners—where even at breakfast there are more courses than most passengers are accustomed to at dinner at home—is a bad preparation for a severe attack of mal-de-mer.

In Russia every woman of the peasant class marries, or pretends to marry. If a girl comes to the decision that no one intends to ask her to marry she leaves home and returns after a time to announce that she is a widow, that she went away to be married, and that her husband has since died. No embarrassing questions are put to her, for it is, among the peasants, considered bad form to mention a dead man to his widow. This curious custom goes to show in what high regard the women of Russia look upon the institution of marriage.

THE INAUGURAL CEREMONIES.

President Roosevelt and Vice President Fairbanks Take the Oaths of Office.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS IS BRIEF.

We Must Not Shirk the Duties We Owe to Others and Ourselves—Our Responsibility Is Heavy and We as a Nation Must Not Fail.

Washington, March 4.—President Roosevelt took the oath of office to-day before a vast gathering of the people he has been elected to serve. The attendant scenes were not unusual. Inaugurations from the time the east front of the capitol first became the setting for the ceremony have been much the same. Many of the central figures have officiated in a like capacity on other occasions when presidents have acceded to the highest office in the gift of the American people. Chief Justice Fuller, in administering the oath, repeated a solemn function he has performed four times—to-day his last. Yet, with all this repetition, nothing was jaded and everything appeared new.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

The great crowd, assembled for the crowning event of a day full of features, cannot be estimated even by comparison. It extended far beyond the reach of the voice and was so densely packed as to carry the stage out of the sight of many. The capitol plaza, resourceful in accommodating the thousands eager to view the ceremony, was completely filled. People came by its numerous streets and avenues, which, like so many yawning, ravenous maws, greedily swallowed the throng until every coign of vantage was occupied. The trees, barren of foliage, carried their human burdens on limbs capable of bearing the weight of man or boy, and as far away as the terraces and marble steps of the library of congress thousands stood.

CHIEF JUSTICE FULLER.

Although the ceremony differed little from those that have preceded it, in the great sea of spectators probably there was a larger number of representative Americans than any inauguration has brought to Washington. The eastern states were rivalled in point of attendance by reason of President Roosevelt's great popularity in the middle and far west. Delegates were present from every one of the insular possessions. Many of them had never seen the capitol and, to a large number, the inauguration of a president was wholly strange.

The movements of the gathering troops and organizations were not all the crowd had for its entertainment. Directly in its front preparations were in progress for the inauguration itself. A monster stand in the form of an open amphitheatre had been erected on a line with the rotunda of the capitol.

The stand was built in the form of a semi-circle inclining to a level platform on which was placed a pavillion for the president's use. The amphitheatre accommodated nearly 7,000 persons.

At about 1 o'clock the official party came through the main door. Cheers were sent up from the multitude, all eyes were directed that way and strained to get the first glimpse of the president.

The official entrance was dramatic. All except those who were participating in the ceremony were seated. When the justices of the supreme court, with the exception of Chief Justice Fuller, emerged from between the pillars and marched down the sloping aisle to their station, they were greeted with applause. Then came the members of the diplomatic corps in their gorgeous uniforms. After them came members of the cabinet, senators and representatives in congress.

Taking as a signal the arrival of Mrs. Roosevelt and a party of friends, and a moment later of Vice President Fairbanks and his escort, the applause subsided to await the coming of the man of the hour. Suddenly the crowd on the stand began to cheer. This was taken up by those immediately in front of the platform. The military presented arms, the committee uncovered, and soon the great sea of people was waving hats and flags and shouting itself hoarse.

President Roosevelt was escorted by Chief Justice Fuller. With measured tread in harmony with the dignified step of the chief justice, the president advanced in state down the aisle.

At a sign from Chief Justice Fuller the clerk of the supreme court stepped forward holding a Bible. A hush fell over the crowd. The president raised his right hand and the oath to support the laws and constitution of the United States was taken amid deep silence. When this had been concluded there was practically no demonstration and the president began his inaugural address, as follows:

My Fellow Citizens: No people on earth have more cause to be thankful than ours, and this is said reverently, in no spirit of boastfulness in our own strength, but with gratitude to the Giver of Good Who has blessed us with the conditions which have enabled us to achieve so large a measure of well being and of happiness. To us as a people it has been granted to lay the foundation of our national life in a new continent. We are the heirs of the ages, and yet we have had to pay few of the penalties which in old countries are exacted by the dead hand of a bygone civilization. We have not been obliged to fight for our existence against any alien race; and yet our life has called for the vigor and effort without which the manlier and hardier virtues wither away. Under such conditions it would be our own fault if we failed; and the success which we have had in the past, the success which we confidently believe the future will bring, should cause in us no feeling of vain glory, but rather a deep and abiding realization of all which life has offered us; a full acknowledgement of the responsibility which is ours; and a fixed determination to show that under a free government a mighty people can thrive best, alike as regards the things of the body and the things of the soul.

Much has been given to us, and much will rightfully be expected from us. We have duties to others and duties to ourselves; and we can shirk neither. We have become a great nation, forced by the fact of its greatness into relations with the other nations of the earth; and we must behave as beseems a people with such responsibilities. Toward all other nations, large and small, our attitude must be one of cordial and sincere friendship. We must show not only in our words, but in our deeds that we are earnestly desirous of securing their good will by acting toward them in a spirit of just and generous recognition of all their rights. But justice and generosity in a nation, as in an individual, count most when shown not by the weak, but by the strong. While ever careful to refrain from wronging others, we must be no less insistent that we are not wronged ourselves. We wish peace; but we wish the peace of justice, the peace of righteousness. We wish it because we think it is right, and not because we are afraid. No weak nation that acts manfully and justly should ever have cause to fear us, and no strong power should ever be able to single us out as a subject for insolent aggression.

Our relations with the other powers of the world are important; but still more important are our relations among ourselves. Such growth in wealth, in population and in powers as this nation has seen during the century and a quarter of its national life is inevitably accompanied by a like growth in the problems which are ever before every nation that rises to greatness. Power invariably means both responsibility and danger. Our forefathers faced certain perils which we have outgrown. We now face other perils the very existence of which it was impossible that they should foresee. Modern life is both complex and intense, and the tremendous changes wrought by the extraordinary industrial development of the last half century are felt in every fiber of our social and political being.

The conditions which have told for our marvelous material well-being, which have developed to a very high degree our energy, self-reliance and individual initiative, have also brought the care and anxiety inseparable from the accumulation of great wealth in industrial centers. Upon the success of our experiment much depends; not only as regards our own welfare, but as regards the welfare of mankind. If we fail, the cause of free self-government throughout the world will rock to its foundations; and therefore, our responsibility is heavy, to ourselves, to the world as it is to-day, and to the generations yet unborn.

Yet, after all, though the problems are new, though the tasks set before us differ from the tasks set before our fathers who founded and preserved this republic, the spirit in which these tasks must be undertaken and these problems faced, if our duty is to be well done, remains essentially unchanged. We know that self-government is difficult. We know that no people needs such high traits of character as that people which seeks to govern its affairs aright through the freely expressed will of the free men who compose it. But we have faith that we shall not prove false to the memories of the men of the mighty past. They did their work, they left us the splendid heritage we now enjoy. We in our turn have an assured confidence that we shall be able to leave this heritage unwasted and enlarged to our children and our children's children. To do so we must show, not merely in great crises, but in the everyday affairs of life, the qualities of practical intelligence, of courage, of hardihood and endurance, and above all the power of devotion to a lofty ideal, which made great the men who founded this republic in the days of Washington, which made great the men who preserved this republic in the days of Abraham Lincoln.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT TAKING THE OATH OF OFFICE.

When the president finished speaking he re-entered the capitol and as he disappeared within the building a signal was flashed to the navy yard and the roar of 21 guns was begun in official salute to the president.

In the presence of as many of his fellow citizens as could be crowded into the senate chamber, Charles Warren Fairbanks was at noon inducted into the office of vice president of the United States. The ceremony was quickly followed by the final adjournment of the senate, the beginning of a special session, an address by the vice president and the swearing into office of almost a third of the membership of the senate. All these official acts took place in the chamber just before the inauguration of the president and were in reality, while themselves of great import, the prelude of the more important event.

VICE PRESIDENT FAIRBANKS.

The installation of the new vice president was simple and brief. It consisted of a promise, solemnly made with uplifted hand and bowed head, to perform the duties of the office and to support and defend the constitution of the United States. This was the oath of office, and it was administered by Senator Frye as president pro tempore of the senate. The two officials stood confronting each other on the elevated platform on which rests the desk of the presiding officer of the senate, practically on the same spot on which all the incoming vice presidents for the past 50 years have stood, and where a majority of Americans have decreed that Mr. Fairbanks shall preside for the four years to come.

Plain and democratic though the ceremony was, it attracted to the senate a gathering of notable people, many of them of such importance that, in accordance with time honored custom, their appearance was heralded with pomp and platitude sufficient to atone for the simplicity of the official acts of the occasion, if not to quite overshadow them. These guests included the foremost representtaives of the official life of the capital city, foreign and domestic, civil and military, and also many other persons of prominence from all parts of the country.

On the senate floor, with his cabinet, were the president of the United States, himself about to be inaugurated; the diplomatic corps, the supreme court of the United States, the house of representatives, the admiral of the navy, the lieutenant general of the army, the governors of states, and others distinguished by reason of position or achievement. These sufficed to tax the capacity of that part of the hall, and thy were splendidly supplemented by the attendance in the galleries.

A Very Fatal Explosion.

Pikeville, Ky., March 4.—At the railroad camp of A. H. Calligan, a Chesapeake & Ohio railway contractor at the mouth of Greasy creek, ten miles south of here, four workmen were instantly killed, two were fatally hurt and four dangerously injured by an explosion yesterday. The men were heating dynamite in powder cans when the explosion occurred.

Retracted His Story.

Washington, Pa., March 4.—Adolph J. Bloch, who confessed to having murdered Mrs. Kate Falzinger at Allentown, Pa., on August 6, 1903, for which crime his brother, Eugene Bloch, was hanged there this week, took it all back yesterday. He said he had never been in Allentown and the story was intended as a joke.

THE BEEF BARONS' PROFITS

An Official Report States that the "Big Six" Have not Been Making Any Too Much Money.

Washington, March 4.—President Roosevelt on Friday transmitted to congress the report of the commissioner of corporations upon the beef industry submitted in compliance with the resolution of the house of representatives adopted March 7, 1904.

The report is to the effect that six packing companies—Armour & Co., Swift & Co., Morris & Co., the National Packing Co., the Schwarzschild & Sulzberger Co., and the Cudahy Packing Co. slaughtered in the year 1903 about 45 per cent. of the total indicated slaughter in the United States; that the average net profit in 1903 for three of the companies was 99 cents per head; that the year 1902, instead of being one of exorbitant profits was less profitable than usual, and that during the months when prices of beef were the highest, some of the leading packers were actually losing money on every head slaughtered.

The changes in the margin between prices of cattle and beef are in themselves no indications whatever of the change in profits, says the report. Prices and conditions for the years 1902, 1903 and 1904 are reviewed, and the conclusions are stated that the six companies especially discussed are apparently not overcapitalized; that the percentage of profit on the gross volume of business is comparatively small, and that during the years 1902, 1903 and 1904 Swift & Co.'s profits have not exceeded 2 per cent. of the total sales; Cudahy & Co.'s is stated at 1.8 per cent. for 1904 and 2.3 per cent. for 1902.

With reference to private car lines in the packing industry it is stated that the profit is a very liberal one, a net return of from 14 to 17 per cent. being indicated, but it is added that, reckoning on the basis of dressed beef transported, the profit would add but little to the cost of beef to the consumer. The profit of one concern, Cudahy Packing Co., on its investment in cars was as high as 22 per cent. in one year.

BUSINESS BULLETIN.

Reports are Somewhat Conflicting, but the Outlook Is Considered Favorable.

New York, March 4.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Trade reports are still somewhat conflicting, but on the whole improvement has followed more settled weather, and the outlook is considered favorable, even in sections where current business is irregular. Mercantile collections are not as prompt at the east as elsewhere, but the liabilities of commercial failures in February were much smaller than a year ago. Traffic blockades have been lifted, restoring a normal distribution of merchandise, and railway earnings in February were only 5.1 per cent. smaller than last year, despite the severe weather at the start. Little idle machinery is noticed in the iron and steel industry, textile mills are increasingly active, and New England shoe shops are shipping more freely than a year ago.

Commercial failures this week in the United States are 245, against 236 the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada number 35, against 27 last year.

A Jail Delivery.

Madisonville, Ky., March 4.—Three alleged murderers and two alleged thieves were freed in a jail delivery here Friday. The delivery was made by some one from the outside cutting iron bars from a rear window of the jail.

Congressional Proceedings.

Washington, March 4.—The last day's session of the house before the final adjournment of congress found that body almost through with its work of disposing of conference reports on the great supply measures of the government. All the appropriation bills having been passed, the session of the senate was given up largely to general legislation and to conference reports on appropriation bills. Final reports were presented on the naval, postoffice, Indian and sundry civil bills, leaving only the river and harbor and the general deficiency bills to be considered in their final stages.

DEATHS IN A COLLISION.

A Crash of Special Trains on the Cleveland & Pittsburg Road Near Pittsburg.

NINE PERSONS WERE KILLED.

Many Persons Were Injured—The Train Carried Cleveland Militiamen and the Tippecanoe Club, Who Were en Route to Washington.

Pittsburg, March 4.—In a rear end collision last night between two special passenger trains from Cleveland on the Cleveland & Pittsburg railroad, en route to Washington, eight men and a boy were killed and 20 others injured.

The accident happened at Clifton Station, eight miles west of here, and was caused by the first special stopping for a hot box and the second followed so closely that the flagman had not time to go back far enough to prevent the collision.

The first train carried a battalion of the Ohio Engineers. It was made up of six coaches and a baggage car. The second train, with the same number of cars, carried the Tippecanoe club, of Cleveland, with a band and 25 or 30 women.

When the crash came the passengers in the rear car of the first train were the principal sufferers and all of the fatalities were in that car. The wreckage took fire from the engine and the entire first train and three cars of the second were burned.

Capt. Charles E. Pope was the only officer of the Engineers to escape injury and he will be in command of the battalion, which will return to Cleveland. The Tippecanoe club will continue their journey to Washington.

When roll call was made of the Tippacanoe club only two men were missing. They may be among the injured who were taken to the hospital at Rochester, Pa.

The engineer of the second train says the block signal showed a green light and his train went ahead at the rate of about 45 or 50 miles an hour. When the impact came the engine of the second train plowed through the rear Pullman in which the officers were and half way into the tourist car just ahead of it.

At 1 o'clock this morning six bodies had been identified. They are:

Capt. William Hendrick, battalion surgeon and a prominent Cleveland physician.

Lieut. Donaldson C. Schofield, of Company D, a Cleveland architect.

Corporal James Kehoe, Company C.

Private H. R. Held, Company C.

James Gray, negro cook, Battery B.

Frank Pinney, aged 10 years, son of Lieut. O. C. Pinney. He was the only boy on the train.

Two men died while being taken to the Beaver county hospital at Rochester. Their bodies will be brought to this city for identification.

Unidentified man in uniform of Pullman conductor. Had cards in pockets bearing name C. Healt.

The injured are all from Cleveland. They are:

George Reilly, will likely die; George Fannan, C. Orbitzer, Charles Sturgis, Frank Johnston, George Gerbrowski, Sergeant William McIrish, George McCabe (colored), Lieut. F. Vanderberg, P. C. Davis, Capt. Geckler, Adjt. Walter McArron, Lieut. O. C. Pinney, skull fractured, may die; Floyd Palmer, condition serious; Lieut. Clifford B. Haskins, of the Naval Reserves; Hugh Bidmann, general agent of the Connecticut Life Insurance Co.; Lieut. Eugene Stearn, Lieut. E. W. Briggs, of the Naval Reserves.

Stanford Home Under Surveillance.

San Francisco, March 4.—Although every effort is being made to find a motive for the poisoning of Mrs. Jane L. Stanford and to fix the guilt, no arrests have yet been made. The detectives are keeping their eyes on Albert Beverly, the former butler, and Elizabeth Richmond, the former maid of Mrs. Stanford, and upon the six or eight employes, mostly Chinese, in the Stanford house in this city, which no one is permitted to enter or leave without permission of the authorities.

Hundreds Were Killed in Riots.

Berlin, March 4.—The Lokal Anzeiger's Baku correspondent gives the number killed in the riots between Armenians and Tartars as 800. The belligerents have now buried the hatchet, but a general exodus from the city is in progress because it is feared the troubles will be resumed to-day when demonstraions are announced in celebration of the liberation of the serfs.

Killed His Wife and Himself.

Tulsa, I. T., March 4.—Will I. Neet, aged 25, of this city, shot and killed his wife and then committed suicide yesterday. At the inquest it developed that the tragedy had been planned, as both had written letters directing what disposition should be made of their personal effects. They were married last Sunday in Longton, Kan.

Congressman Hermann Is Indicted.

Washington, March 4.—Binger Hermann, member of congress from Oregon and former commissioner of the general land office, was indicted Friday by the federal grand jury here on the charge of destroying public records. The charge is that Mr. Hermann, just previous to his resignation as commissioner of the general land office, which was on February 1, 1903, destroyed 35 letter press copy books containing copies of official communications written by him and relating to the business of that bureau. He gave bail in $5,000.

AN APPEAL AND A PROMISE.

The Czar Issues a Manifesto and a Decree that Marks an Epoch.

PEOPLE'S RIGHT TO BE HEARD.

It Is Recognized to a Limited Extent as Regards Making of Laws—Workmen's Demands are Refused and a General Strike Has Been Declared.

St. Petersburg, March 4.—In the Alexandria palace at Tsarskoe-Selo, surrounded by the ministers and a few members of the court and with the empress at his side, Emperor Nicholas on Friday signed a rescript containing his decree to give elected representatives of the people an opportunity to express their views in the preparation of the laws of the empire.

This is the autocracy's final response to the agitation in favor of participation by the people in government which has brought Russia in the last few months almost to the brink of revolution. Its import must not be misunderstood. For the present, at least, it involves no change in the regime of autocracy and it means neither a constitution nor a national assembly. At the same time it recognizes the principle of the people's right to be heard regarding laws under which they must live. Whatever the result may be, the document is sure to mark an epoch in Russian history as important if not more important than the signing of the emancipattion manifesto, the anniversary of which it was intended to signalize.

Emperor Nicholas' manifesto reiterating Russia's aspirations in the far east and appealing to the loyalty of the people to turn away from sedition and support the government in order that the projected reforms may be carried out has disappointed the liberals.

The workmen's demands that the government pledge itself to release the 3,000 workmen who had been arrested since January 22 and engage that the members of the mixed commission should have absolute freedom of speech and immunity of arrest on account of expression of opinions and that the proceedings of the commission should be published uncensored have been rejected by the government.

A general strike was proclaimed at sectional meetings of workmen here Friday.

Lodz, March 4.—Serious disorders broke out at the Poinanski cotton mill Friday while the men were being paid off. Troops were summoned to restore order and three workmen were killed and 42 injured.

Warsaw, March 4.—The gas works strike has ended and the workmen will return to their labors to-day. The gas company has granted a nine-hour day.

MINOR NEWS ITEMS.

George Reister, of Hamilton, O., aged 45, committed suicide recently. His wife found his body hanging in a shed at their home. No cause is known.

A strike of the workmen employed at the Lewis and Clark exposition grounds in Portland, Ore., is on. The men demand better pay and shorter hours.

The British claims as a result of the North Sea incident as finally submitted to Russia total $325,000. This amount will be paid in a few days without demur.

A receiver has been appointed for the Bank of Cumberland Gap, Tenn., which has closed its doors. The liabilities of the bank are said to be $40,000; assets about the same.

Sidney Adams, for 23 years chief clerk of the general delivery office in the Baltimore postoffice, was arrested on the charge of tampering with the mails. When scarched marked money contained in a decoy letter was found on him and he confessed his guilt.

Demands for increased pay and an eight-hour day to take effect May 1 have been announced by the Rockmen and Excavators' union, which contains about 15,000 members in Greater New York. If the demands meet refusal the men declare they will strike on the date mentioned.

The Ohio board of pardons has refused to grant a commutation of the death sentence of Herman Hamilton, of Scioto county, to life imprisonment. Hamilton was convicted of the murder of Lee Calver, a section boss on the Norfolk & Western railway, and is sentenced to be electrocuted March 17.

Reports from Port Arthur state that 43 of the sunken Russian vessels in the harbor are useless. The Russians exploded dynamite in both the forward and aft holds and in the engine rooms. The machinery and magazines were destroyed by a torpedo and the guns plugged and burst at the muzzle.

At Louisville, Ky., Bayless O'Bannon, freight agent for the Monon railroad, was shot and dangerously wounded by Frank Keith, formerly weight inspector for the joint rate inspection bureau. Keith has been out of employment for months and the reason for it, he alleges, is that O'Bannon refused a letter of recommendation.

Led by an enraged father who asserted that the Syrian had attempted to maltreat his 11-year-old daughter, an infuriated mob of 300 longshoremen at New York City dragged Assad H. Enchor from his room, placed a noose around his neck and was about to string him up to a lamp post when the police interfered.

River and Harbor Bill Passes.

Washington, March 4.—A full agreement on the river and harbor appropriation bill was reached by the conferees last night by a compromise of all the matters in dispute and it passed both branches of congress.

Strikes Hidden Rocks.

When your ship of health strikes the hidden rocks of Consumption, Pneumonia, etc., you are lost, if you don't get help from Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. J. W. McKinnon, of Talladega Springs, Ala., writes: "I had been very ill with Pneumonia under the care of two doctors, but was getting no better when I began to take Dr. King's New Discovery. The first dose gave relief, and one bottle cured me." Sure cure for sore throat, bronchitis, coughs and colds Guarranted at L. Taggart's drug store; price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Startling Mortality.

Statistics show startling mortality, from appendicitis and peritonitis. To prevent and cure these awful diseases, there is just one reliable remedy. Dr. King's New Life Pills. M. Flannery, of 14 Custom House Place, Chicago, says: "They have no equal for Constipation and Biliousness.', 25c at L. Taggart druggist.

EXPRESSIVE NAME FOR INDIGESTION.

L. Taggart Has a Simple Remedy That is Guaranteed to Cure the Truble.

No one word better expresses the condition of the sufferer from weak stomach or indigestion than "misery." The stomach is weak and cannot digest the food, so that there is no appetite, there are pains and griping in the stomach and bowels, the head and back ache, and the misery goes to every organ.

Strengthen the stomach and the digestive system by the use of Mi-o-na. This is the only stomach remedy known that gives relief by strengthening the stomach and digestive organs. It is this principle that makes it a certain cure for indigestion. Other medicines may give temporary relief by helping to digest the food, but they do not strengthen the stomach, and that organ gets weaker and weaker all the time.

L. Taggart the reliable retail druggist has so much confidence in this remarkable remedy that he guarantees a cure or the money will be refunded. Mi-o na costs but 50 cents a box. Ask to see the strong guarantee given with every box.

Mi-o-na is in tablet form and should be taken before each meal. Other remedies for stomach troubles and indigestion are taken after the meal, and decompose the good food you eat, but Mi-o-na used before eating strengthens the stomach, soothes and heals all irritation and inflammation, enriches the blood and puts the stomach in such a healthy condition that it will take care of the food itself and there will be no pain and suffering.

The nimble nickle does not make the lively church.

Night Prowling Thieves.

Croup and Whooping Cough come like a thief in the night, stealing in to fasten the fangs of mortal disease upon the children as they peacefully sleep in their little beds. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar, the new discovery for Coughs and Colds, will drive out these death dealing demons before the doctor can arrive. It protects the lives and health of the little ones. Contains no opiates. Keep it handy. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

He who attends to his own business is never out of a job.

A Dinner Invitation.

After a hearty meal a dose of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will prevent an attack of Indigestion. Kodol is a thorough digestant and a guaranteed cure for Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gas on the Stomach, Sour Risings, Bad Breadth and all stomach troubles. N. Watkins, Lesbus, Ky., says: "I can testify to the efficacy of Kodol in the cure of Stomach Trouble. I was afflicted with Stomach Trouble for fifteen years and have taken six bottles of your Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which has entirely cured me. The six bottles were worth $1,000 to me." Sold by R. C. Dodson.

You can explode a theory but you can't explode a fact.

The Colonel's Waterloo.

Colonel John M. Fuller, of Honey Grove, Texas, nearly met his Waterloo, from Liver and Kidney trouble. In a recent letter, he says: "I was nearly dead, of these complaints, and, although I tried my family doctor, he did me no good; so I got a 50c bottle of your great Electric Bitters, which cured me. I consider them the best medicine on earth, and thank God who gave you the knowledge to make them." Sold, and guaranteed to cure, Dyspepsia, Biliousness and Kidney Disease, by L. Taggart druggist, and 50c a bottle.

A Newspaper That Speaks Out,

On Feb. 2nd the Pittsburg Times was 25 years old. Its owners claim its undiminished popularity is demonstrated by the frankness with which it has discussed subjects of public interest. Whenever there is before the people some question of absorbing importance newspaper readers are on the qui vive to know what The Times has to say, and what The Times says is right to the point. It hews to the line. That, however, is only one of the merits claimed for its publishers. Its general news service is comprehensive and complete. It is accurate in its financial department and up-to-date on its sporting page. Its serial stories are by the best modern authors. It pays especial attention to the news and views of all the churches, and in this respect has won the admiration of the best people. Its editorial page is a daily feast of the best and brightest thought. It endeavors to avoid the "yellow" and caters only to the people of the home and the family. It has no Sunday issue. THE TITHING MAN.

His face was built on the Gothic plan,
And grim was the glare of the tithing-man.
He lived in the old pod-auger days,
When the garb was bombazine and baize;
When the candle-mold and loom and swifts
Were the handiest things for wedding gifts;
In the days when people could not shirk
On mute machines the hardest work,
But buckled down the long week through
To what their hands could find to do,
With grit and grace and elbow-grease,
Till Saturday night brought blest release.
Then off to church on Sunday they
Obediently pursued their way.
At forenoon session and afternoon
Heard the Scripture and droned a tune,
Then sat them down with upcocked head
To listen to what the parson said.
And then was the time when they risked the ban
Of the solemn and taciturn tithing-man.

Oh, the tithing-man, the tithing-man!
Up at the front he'd sit and scan
The rugged faces for row on row
Like sunflowers turned to Phoebus' glow.
But Morpheus daily by Duty balked
Now sought his chance while the parson talked.
He poked his fingers in listening ears,
He stroked down eyelids and calmed the fears
Till head drooped here and head drooped there
Under the parson's somber glare.
Most of them merely quaffed a sip
Of the draft that Morpheus held to lip,
Then yanked their chins and snapped their eyes
And stared around with grave surprise.
But others dipped and dipped and dipped,
Ratching their heads. And then they slipped
Over the border and under the ban
Of that vigilant tyrant, the tithing-man.

Oh, the tithing-man, the tithing-man!
Foe to slumber! Observe his plan:
Yon is a plump and worthy dame
Who is tired by distaff and quilting-frame.
The wearies and worries of six days past
Have chased her, and caught her in church at last.
Her lips are open, and wafting through
Is the soothing whisper of "Ook-apf-fo-o-o!"
The smile on her face is rapt and blest,
And pity it is she may not rest!
But the tithing-man of callous soul
Poises deftly his lengthy pole,
And the end with its tickly rabbit's foot
Under her nose is softly put,
And lo! from the blest Lethean shore
She is back to her cares and toils once more.
But to him who sits on the other side
No fluffy touch is thus applied.
His toil-gnarled hands on his lap are crossed,
Mem'ries of back-bent work are lost,
And all at once his head tips back
And his nose like a bugle yelps: "Aow-rak-k-k!"
That sound has shocked the mentor's soul.
There's a hard, round knob on that lengthy pole,
And the luckless head receives a "tunk"
That brings it down from the clouds, ker-chunk!
And eyes that were closed on the things of earth,
Beholding in dreams fair food for mirth,
Unclose alarmed in this solemn place
To blink appeal at the frosty face—
That face severe in its Gothic plan,
The face of the glowering tithing-man.

D'ri and I

CHAPTER XII.—CONTINUED.

I had a high notion, those days, of the duty of a soldier. My father had always told me there was no greater glory for anybody than that of a brave death. Somehow the feeling got to be part of me. While I had little fear of death, I dreaded to be shot like a felon. But I should be dying for my country, and that feeling seemed to light the shadows. When I fell asleep, after much worry, it was to dream of my three countrymen who had fallen to their faces there by the corn. I awoke to find the guard in our cell, and D'ri and he whispering together. He had come with our breakfast.

"All I want," D'ri was saying, "is a piece of iron, with a sharp end, half es long es yer arm."

He made no answer, that big, sullen, bulldog man who brought our food to us. When he had gone, D'ri lay over and began laughing under his breaath.

"His thinker 's goin' luk a sawmill," he whispered. "Would n't wonder ef it kep' 'im awake nights. He was askin' 'bout thet air tew thousand dollars. Ef they 'll let us alone fer three days, we 'll be out o' here. Now, you mark my word."

"How?" I inquired.

"Jest a leetle job o' slidin' downhill," he said. "There's a big drain-pipe goes under this cell—t' the river, prob'ly. He says it 's bigger 'n a barrel."

We saved our candle that day, and walked up and down, from wall to wall, for exercise. Our hopes were high when we heard footsteps, but they fell suddenly, for, as we listened, we could hear the tramp of a squad of men. They came to our cell, and took us upstairs, blind-folded as before, to a bath-room, where the uniforms, discarded the day of our capture, were waiting for us, newly pressed. Our bath over, they directed us to put them on. They gave us new hats, for our own had been lost the night of the wreck, covered our eyes, and led us through many doors and alleys into the open air. It was dark, I knew, for as we entered a carriage I could dimly see the glow of a lantern hanging over the wheel. The carriage went away swiftly on a level road. We sat knee to knee, with two men facing us, and not a word was spoken. We could hear hoofs falling, the rattle of bit and rein, the creak of saddle-leather on each side of us. We must have gone a long journey when the carriage halted. They pulled us out roughly and let us up three steps and across a deep veranda. A bell rang, door swung open, a flood of light fell on us, filtering to our eyes. Entering, we could feel a carpet under us, and took a dozen paces or more before they bade us halt. We heard only the low-spoken order and the soft tread of our feet. There was a dead silence when they removed our fetters and unbound our eyes. We were standing in a big and sumptuous drawing-room. A company of gentlemen sat near us in arm-chairs; there were at least a score of them. Round tables of old mahogany stood near, on which were glasses and packs of cards and wine-bottles.

The young man who sat with the general and answered to "your Lordship" was approaching me, hand extended.

"Glad to see you; sit down," he said in the same quiet, languid, forceful tone I had heard before.

It was all very odd. The guards were gone; we were apparently as free as any of them.

"I shall try to make you comfortable," he said. A servant began filling a row of glasses. "We have here wine and wit and all the accessories, including women. I should introduce you, but I have not the honor of your acquaintance. Let it suffice to say these are my friends" (he turned to those who sat about), "and gentlemen, these are my enemies," he added, turning to us. "Let us hope they may die happy."

"JUMP!" IT WHISPERED AND THE BARE BONES OF THE DEAD FINGERS STIRRED IMPATIENTLY.

"And with a fighting chance," I added, lifting the glass without tasting it.

D'ri sat, his brows lifted, his hands in his pockets, his legs crossed. He looked curiously from one to another.

"Horton," said his lordship, as he sat down, leaning lazily on the arm of his chair, "will you have them bring down the prisoners?"

The servant left the room. Some of the men were talking together in low tones; they were mostly good-looking and well dressed.

"Gentlemen," said his lordship, rising suddenly, "I'm going to turn you out of here for a moment—they're a shy lot. Won't you go into the library?"

They all arose and went out of a door save one, a bald man of middle age, half tipsy, who begged of his "Ludship" the privilege of remaining.

"Sir Charles," said the young man, still lounging in his chair as he spoke, in that cold calm tone of his, "you annoy me. Go at once!" and he went.

They covered our faces with napkins of white linen. Then we heard heavy steps, the clink of scabbards on a stairway, the feet of ladies, and the swish of their gowns. With a quick movement our faces were uncovered. I rose to my feet, for there before me stood Louison and the Baroness de Ferre, between two guards, and, behind them, Louise, her eyes covered, her beautiful head bent low. I could see that she was crying. The truth came to me in a flash of thought. They had been taken after we left; they were prisoners brought here to identify us. A like quickness of perception had apparently come to all. We four stood looking at one another with no sign of recognition. My face may have shown the surprise and horror in me, but shortly I recovered my stony calm. The ladies were dressed finely, with the taste and care I had so much admired. Louison turned away from me with a splendid dignity and stood looking up at the wall, her hands behind her, a toe of one shoe tapping the floor impatiently. It was a picture to remember a lifetime. I could feel my pulse quicken as I looked upon her. The baroness stood, sober-faced, her eyes looking down, her fan moving slowly. His lordship rose and came to Louise.

"Come, now, my pretty prisoner; it is disagreeable, but you must forgive me," he said.

She turned away from him, drying her eyes. Then presently their beauty shone upon me.

"Grace au ciel!" she exclaimed, a great joy in her eyes and voice. "It is M'sieur Bell. Sister—baroness—it is M'sieur Bell!"

I advanced to meet her, and took her hand, kissing it reverently. She covered her face, her hand upon my shoulder, and wept in silence. If it meant my death, I should die thanking God I knew, or thought I knew, that she loved me.

"Ah, yes; it is M'sieur Bell—poor fellow!" said Louison, coming quickly to me. "And you, my dear, you are Ma'm'selle Louise."

She spoke quickly in French, as if quite out of patience with the poor diplomacy of her sister.

"I knew it was you, for I saw the emerald on your finger," she added, turning to me, "but I could not tell her."

"I am glad, I am delighted, that she spoke to me," I said. I desired to save the fair girl, whose heart was ever as a child's, any sorrow for what she had done. "I was about to speak myself. It is so great a pleasure to see you all I could not longer endure silence."

"They made us prisoners; they bring us here. Oh, m'sieur, it is terrible!" said the baroness.

"And he is such a horrible-looking monkey!" said Louison.

"Do they treat you well?" I asked.

"We have a big room and enough to eat. It is not a bad prison, but it is one terrible plase," said the baroness. "There is a big wall; we cannot go beyond it."

"And that hairy thing! He is in love with Louise. He swears he will never let us go," said Louison, in a whisper, as she came close to me, "unless she will marry him."

"Ah! a tea-party," said his lordship, coming toward us. "Pardon the interruption. I have promised to return these men at nine. It is now 10 minutes of the hour. Ladies, I wish you all a very good night."

He bowed politely. They pressed my hand, leaving me with such anxiety in their faces that I felt it more than my own peril. Louison gave me a tender look out of her fine eyes, and the thought of it was a light to my soul in many an hour of darkness. She had seemed so cool, so nonchalant, I was surprised to feel the tremor in her nerves. I knew not words to say when Louise took my hand.

"Forgive me—good-by!" said she. It was a faint whisper out of trembling lips.

"Have courage!" I called as they went away.

I was never in such a fierce temper as when, after they had gone above-stairs, I could hear one of them weeping. D'ri stood quietly beside me, his arms folded.

"Whut ye goin' t' dew with them air women?" he asked, turning to the young man.

"I beg you will give me time to consider," said his lordship, calmly, as he lighted a cigarette.

There was a quick move in the big tower of bone and muscle beside me. I laid hold of D'ri's elbow and bade him stop, or I fear his lordship's drawing-room, his lordship, and ourselves would presently have had some need of repair. Four guards who seemed to be waiting in the hall entered hurriedly, the shackles in hand.

"No haste," said his lordship, more pleasantly than ever. "Stand by and wait my orders."

"D' ye wan' t' know whut I think o' you?" said D'ri looking down at him. his eyes opening wide, his brow wrinkling into long furrows.

"I make a condition," said his lordship: "do not flatter me."

"Yer jest a low-lived, mis'ble, wuthless pup," said D'ri.

"Away with them!" said his lordship, flicking the ashes off a cigarette as he rose and walked hurriedly out of the room.

CHAPTER XIII.

The waiting guards laid hold of us in a twinkling, and others came crowding the doors. They shackled our hands behind us, and covered our eyes again. Dark misgivings of what was to come filled me, but I bore all in silence. They shoved us roughly out of doors, and there I could tell they were up to no child's play. A loud jeer burst from the mouths of many as we came staggering out. I could hear the voices of a crowd. They hurried us into a carriage.

"We demand the prisoners!" a man shouted near me.

Then I could her them scuffling with the guards, who, I doubt not, were doing their best to hold them back. In a moment I knew the mob had possession of us and the soldiers were being hustled away. D'ri sat shoulder to shoulder with me. I could feel his muscles tighten; I could hear the cracking of his joints and grinding of the shackle-chain. "Judas Pr-r-i-e-st!" he grunted, straining at the iron. Two men leaped into the carriage. There was a crack of the whip, and the horses went off bounding. We could hear horsemen all about us and wagons following. I had a stout heart in me those days, but in all my life I had never taken a ride so little to my liking. We went over rough roads, up hill and down, for an hour or more.

I could see in prospect no better destination than our graves, and, indeed, I was not far wrong. Well, by and by we came to a town somewhere—God knows where. I have never seen it, or known the name of it, or even that of the prison where we were first immured. I could tell it was a town by the rumble of the wheels and each echoing hoof-beat. The cavalcade was all about us, and now and then we could hear the sound of voices far behind. The procession slowed up, horsemen jammed to the left of us, the carriage halted. I could hear footsteps on a stone pavement.

"You 're late," said a low voice at the carriage door. "It 's near eleven."

"Lot o' fooling with the candidates," said one of the horsemen, quietly. "Everything ready?"

"Everything ready," was the answer. The carriage door swung open.

"We get out here," said one of the men who sat with us.

I alighted. On each side of me somebody put his hand on my shoulder. I could see the glow of a lantern-light close to my face. I knew there was a crowd of men around, but I could hear nothing save now and then a whisper.

"Wall, Ray," said D'ri, who stood by my side, "hol' stiddy 'n' don't be scairt."

"Do as they tell ye," a stranger whispered in my ear. "No matter what 't is, do as they tell ye."

They led us into a long passage and up a steep flight of wooden stairs. I have learned since then it was a building equipped by a well-known secret society for its initiations. We went on through a narrow hall, and up a winding flight that seemed to me interminable. Above it, as we stopped, the man who was leading me rapped thrice on a rattling wooden door. It broke the silence with a loud echoing noise. I could hear then the sliding of a panel and a faint whispering and the sound of many feet ascending the stairs below. The door swung open presently, and we were led in where I could see no sign of any light. They took me alone across a wide bare floor, where they set me down on some sort of platform and left me, as I thought. Then I could hear the whispered challenge at the door and one after another entering and crossing the bare floor on tiptoe. Hundreds were coming in, it seemed to me. Suddenly a deep silence fell in that dark place of evil. The blindfold went whisking off as if a ghostly hand had taken it. But all around me was the darkness of a pit. I could see and I could hear nothing but a faint whisper, high above me, like that of pine boughs moving softly in a light breeze. I could feel the air upon my face. I thought I must have moved out of door by magic. It seemed as if I was sitting under the trees alone. Out of the black silence an icy hand fell suddenly upon my brow. I flinched, feeling it move slowly downward over my shoulder. I could hear no breathing, no rustle of garments near me. In the dead silence I got a feeling that the hand touching me had no body behind it. I was beyond the reach of fear—I was in a way prepared for anything but the deep, heart-shaking horror that sank under the cold, damp touch of those fingers. They laid hold of my elbow firmly, lifting as if to indicate that I was to rise. I did so, moving forward passively as it drew me on. To my astonishment I was unable to hear my own footfall or that of my conductor. I thought we were walking upon soft earth. Crossing our path in front of me I could see, in the darkness, a gleaming line. We moved slowly, standing still as our toes covered it. Then suddenly a light flashed from before and below us. A cold sweat came out upon me; I staggered back to strong hands that were laid upon my shoulders, forcing me to the line again. By that flash of light I could see that I was standing on the very brink of some black abyss—indeed, my toes had crossed the edge of it. The light came again, flickering and then settling into a steady glow. The opening seemed to have a grassy bottom some 10 feet below. In front of me the soil bristled, on that lower level, with some black and pointed plant: there were at least a score of them. As I looked I saw they were not plants, but a square of bayonets thrust, points up, in the ground. A curse came out of my hot mouth, and then a dozen voices mocked it, going fainter, like a dying echo. A tall figure in a winding-sheet, its face covered, was leaning over me.

"To hesitate is to die," it whispered. "Courage may save you."

Then a skeleton hand came out of the winding-sheet, pointing down at the square of bristling bayonets. The figure put its mouth to my ear.

"Jump!" it whispered, and the bare bones of the dead fingers stirred impatiently.

[To Be Continued.]

A Question of Knowledge.

Two men in Kansas City were having a heated argument concerning the location of a certain theater in New York city. The one insisted that the house stood on lower Broadway, while the other was equally confident that it was up town. Finally, the first man, becoming angry, exclaimed: "Perhaps you think you know more about New York than I do? How often have you been there?" "Once," was the epigrammatic reply. "Well," exclaimed the other in triumph, "I've been there five different times, and I ought to know more about it than you do." The vanquished one was silent for a moment. Presently he spoke with a smile on his face: "How long did you stay in New York on each of the five visits you made?" The other scratched his head a moment before replying, and said: "Well, each time I was there for two or three days. How long did you stay on the only visit you made?" "Seventeen years," was the calm reply. That ended the conversation.—Sunday Magazine.

Gladstone Failed to Tip.

Mr. Gladstone's hatred of tipping, writes a correspondent, was not only shown in his avoidance of the custom whenever possible, but also in the smallness of the gift when he found the custom too strong for him. At a private hotel in Brighton where Mr. Gladstone had stayed for the week-end, one of the dining-room waiters who had served Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone gives as one of his reasons for voting against Liberal candidates at local elections, the fact that "Gladstone only gave me a shilling." For this "insult" the Liberal party lost one vote. Premiers will have to be very careful that they tip wisely and well.—London Chronicle.

Balled Up.

John Lund, former president of the Norwegian house of parliament, and a delegate to the recent international peace congress, can write English very well, but occasionally makes a mistake in rhetoric and the pronunciation of words. He made a rather funny break in responding to the address of welcome given by Secretary Hay. Mr. Lund was referring to the action of the United States in promoting the universal peace movement. As he strove to bring out the point of his argument, he said, "And iast, but not least, first of all, we must interest all nations as much as the United States has been interested."—Argonaut.

Bound to Be Damaged.

Apropos of the suits for damages that are continually being brought against railway companies, relates the New York Tribune, President Francis, of the St. Louis exposition, said:

"Many of these suits, of course, are mere cases of unjust extortion. It isn't often, though, that the victim of an accident is as alert and resourceful as a man of whom I heard the other day.

"A man and his wife were riding in a car that was derailed. Crash, bang, it went, and then bump, bang, bump, down a steep hill. The man howled with terror, but the car soon came to a stop. He examined himself all over carefully, and found that he was quite unharmed. Then he thought in the same breath of damages and of his wife.

"'Are you hurt at all, old girl?' he asked.

"'No, thank Heaven!' the woman answered.

"'Then,' said the man, 'I tell you what. Let me black your eye, and won't we soak the company hard for damages! It won't hurt you much. I'll just give you one good punch.'"

Cured Her Diabetes.

Halo, Ind., Feb. 27th.—(Special)—If what will cure Diabetes will cure any form of Kidney Disease, as so many physicians say, then Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure any form of Kidney Disease. For Mrs. L. C. Bowers of this place has proved that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure Diabetes.

"I had Diabetes," Mrs. Bowers says, "my teeth all became loose and part of them came out. I passed a great deal of water with such burning sensations I could hardly bear it. I lost about 40 pounds in weight. I used many medicines and doctored with two local doctors but never got any better till I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. They cured me so completely that in three years I have had no return of the disease. I am a well woman now, thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ailments from Backache to Bright's Disease. Cure your Backache with them and you will never have Bright's Disease, Diabetes or Rheumatism.

Unfortunate.

"Miss Cayenne is very unfortunate."

"She has a remarkable gift of repartee."

"Yes. When she tries to be sincerely complimentary people take it for granted that she is being sarcastic."—Washington Star.

A Wife's Advice.

Mrs. Undertaker—Don't talk shop, dear. —Brooklyn Life.

Political forms touch the life of the people intimately. Thus, under a monarchy or a theocracy or an oligarchy, a man with long hair passes for a poet, whereas under a republic he is thought to be paying an election bet, merely.—Puck.

IT IS IN THE BLOOD

Neither Liniments nor Ointments Will Reach Rheumatism—How Mr. Stephenson Was Cured.

People with inflamed and aching joints, or painful muscles; people who shuffle about with the aid of a cane or a crutch and cry, Oh! at every slight jar, are constantly asking, "What is the best thing for rheumatism?"

To attempt to cure rheumatism by external applications is a foolish waste of time. The seat of the disease is in the blood, and while the sufferer is rubbing lotions and grease on the skin the poison in the circulation is increasing.

Delays in adopting a sensible treatment are dangerous because rheumatism may at any moment reach the heart and prove fatal. The only safe course for rheumatic sufferers is to get the best possible blood remedy at once.

Mr. Stephenson's experience with this obstinate and distressing affliction is that of hundreds. He says:

"About a year ago I was attacked by severe rheumatic pains in my left shoulder. The pains were worse in wet weather, and at these periods caused me the greatest suffering. I tried a number of treatments and ointments, but they failed to alleviate the pains."

Then he realized that the cause must be deeper and the pain only a surface indication. He adds:

'I had heard Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People recommended as a cure for rheumatism, and when I found that I was getting no relief from applications, I made up my mind that I would try them. Before the first box was gone I noticed that the pains were becoming less frequent, and that they were not so severe as before. After the second box had been used up I was entirely free from discomfort, and I have had no traces of rheumatism since."

The change in treatment proved by almost immediate results that Mr. Thomas Stephenson, who lives at No. 115 Greenwood street, Springfield, Mass., had found the true means for the purification and enrichment of his blood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are without doubt the best of all blood remedies. They effect genuine and lasting cures in rheumatism. They do not merely deaden the ache, but they expel the poison from the blood. These pills are sold by all druggists.

ALL SICK WOMEN

SHOULD READ MRS. FOX'S LETTER

In All Parts of the United States Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Effected Similar Cures.

Many wonderful cures of female ills are continually coming to light which have been brought about by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and through the advice of Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., which is given to sick women absolutely free of charge.

Mrs. Pinkham has for many years made a study of the ills of her sex; she has consulted with and advised thousands of suffering women, who to-day owe not only their health but even life to her helpful advice.

Mrs. Fannie D. Fox, of 7 Chestnut Street, Bradford, Pa., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I suffered for a long time with womb trouble, and finally was told by my physician that I had a tumor on the womb. I did not want to submit to an operation, so wrote you for advice. I received your letter and did as you told me, and to-day I am completely cured. My doctor says the tumor has disappeared, and I am once more a well woman. I believe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the best medicine in the world for women."

The testimonials which we are constantly publishing from grateful women establish beyond a doubt the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to conquer female diseases.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. She asks nothing in return for her advice. It is absolutely free, and to thousands of women has proved to be more precious than gold.

W. L. DOUGLAS

UNION MADE. $3.50 & $3.00 SHOES FOR MEN.

W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes are the greatest sellers in the world because of their excellent style, easy fitting and superior wearing qualities. They are just as good as those that cost from $5.00 to $7.00. The only difference is the price. W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes cost more to make, hold their shape better, wear longer, and are of greater value than any other $3.50 shoe on the market to-day. W. L. Douglas guarantees their value by stamping his name and price on the bottom of each shoe. Look for it. Take no substitute. W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes are sold through his own retail stores in the principal cities, and by shoe dealers everywhere. No matter where you live, W. L. Douglas shoes are within your reach.

BETTER THAN OTHER MAKES AT ANY PRICE.

"For the last three years I have worn W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoe and found it not only as good, but better than any shoe that I ever had, regardless of price." Chas. L. Farrell, Asst. Cashier The Capital National Bank, Indianapolis, Ind.

Boys wear W. L. Douglas $2.50 and $2.00 shoes because they fit better, hold their shape, and wear longer than other makes.

W. L. DOUGLAS $4.00 SHOES CANNOT BE EQUALLED AT ANY PRICE.

W. L. Douglas uses Corona Colt skin in his $3.50 shoes. Corona Colt is considered to be the finest patent leather produced.

SOUTHERN CONDITIONS AND POSSIBILITIES.

In no part of the United States has there been such wonderful Commercial, Industrial and Agricultural development as along the lines of the Illinois Central and the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley Railroads in the States of Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana, within the past ten years. Cities and towns have doubled their population. Splendid business blocks have been erected. Farm lands have more than doubled in value. Hundreds of industries have been established and as a result there is an unprecedented demand for Day Laborers, Skilled Workmen, and especially Farm Tenants.

Parties with small capital, seeking an opportunity to purchase a farm home; farmers who would prefer to rent for a couple of years before purchasing; and day laborers in fields or factories should address a postal card to Mr. J. F. Merry, Asst. General Passenger Agent, Dubuque, Iowa, who will promptly mail printed matter concerning the territory above described, and give specific replies to all inquiries.

FANCY LOCKETS POPULAR.

Much Ornamentation Used for These Dangles and Sometimes Several Kinds of Gold Employed.

Florodora's famous sextette of pretty girls revived the vogue for wearing a locket, five years ago, and it continues to be popular with the girl in 1905. To get a look within its secret covers is the fortune of only a favored few, for its contents often reveal the key to its fair owner's sentiments, whether it hold her sweetheart's picture, or a plate mirror by which she adjusts her refractory locks when admiring eyes are turned away.

The plain gold locket, with highly polished surface, is always a handsome trinket to dangle from a long neck chain, and when engraved with a large monogram in the new graceful scripts it knows no rival. But it is the heavily carved locket in rose gold or French gray silver that stands at present in highest favor. These may be expensively jeweled or they may be brilliant with tiny rhinestone chips, which are especially bright in combination with gun metal. The popular shape is an oblong and the small locket is in favor for the nonce.

A haughty peacock ornaments one oblong locket, his crested head and spreading tail being worked out in blue and green enamel against dull gold ground. In round lockets, both large and small, roses are heavily embossed and wee rubies, emeralds and diamonds glisten from every crack and corner. A small round locket in rose gold showed the head of a sly fox, with his nose just reaching up to a bunch of grapes in blue enamel. Another of the same pinkish hue had the shaggy head of a lion peering out from two diamond eyes.

A flower or the head of an animal forms the top cover of some locket cases. A pansy face in rose gold had a ruby heart surrounded by seven small diamonds. Single heads of cherubs make a stunning trinket for the end of a silver chain. Other silver lockets show a deer's head in bold relief, or the figure of a Grecian maiden with statuesque profile.

Single jewels cut in heart-shape are encircled with pearls or diamonds, an amethyst heart being headed by a bowknot of pearls, or a topaz heart having a frame of rhinestones. Headed by a bowknot of rhinestones, a quaint pendant locket holds a tiny crystal hand mirror set in a frame of imitation rubies. Miniatures of famous beauties, encircled with a fine filigree of gold and diamonds, form the covers for costly lockets, and the horsewoman has her favorite trotter's picture under a semi-globe of crystal. Masonic emblems are outlined in diamonds on square pendants for men's use, and profiles of beautiful women also adorn them.—St. Paul Globe.

TO MAKE YOUR OWN RUGS

Just at Present Hand-Made Mats Are Considered Very Desirable, So Save Carpet-Rags.

The question of rugs is always with the housekeeper. The low-priced ones do not wear well, as a rule, and those that are durable are so high-priced, also as a rule. No wonder, then, that the old fashioned rag rugs are revived. They are made in most artistic combinations of color by the craftsman, and may be woven to suit any room. Rugs made of old ingrain carpets are very satisfactory; the carpet is cut into long strips, about an inch wide, the longer the better. The weaver sews these together, as the joining must be very neatly made, and a good weaver should be selected, as much depends upon the warp, which must be heavy to hold well. A red warp is good for nearly all of these rugs and they are practically indestructible.

The ordinary rag rug may be made of all sorts of bits sewed together. First cut the rags, which should be clean, into stripe an inch wide; never mind about the length; sew these together by lapping, not in the usual seam, with strong thread. Either the "hit and miss," where no attention is paid to the combinations of color, may be used, or some sort of order carried out in the joining. The sewing in of a strip of black at more or less regular intervals gives the zigzag result that is sometimes seen.

After the sewing is done the strips are wound into pound balls, and the rule is a pound to a yard of carpet, unless the rags are of very light goods. Almost any kind of gingham, calico, turkey red and unbleached muslin, bits of woolen gowns, scraps of cloth and linings may all be utilized, and the preparation of the balls is a good winter night's recreation.

Rice Pudding.

Boil half a pound of rice in milk until it is quite tender, beat it well with a wooden spoon to mash the grains; add three-quarters of a pound of sugar and the same of melted butter; half a nutmeg, six eggs, a gill of wine, some grated lemon peel; put a paste in the dish and bake it. For a change it may be boiled and eaten with butter, sugar and wine.

ALAS SALAD.

The Lobster (more sadly still)—And my salad days have yet to come—worse luck!

WHERE WAR STILL RAGED.

Something for the Correspondents to Do When Nations Were at Peace.

Even at the early dawn of Utopian civilization it became evident that the era of universal peace had arrived, says the New York Sun. The nations discovered that the great gun had been invented that would send a projectile through any armor, while, on the other hand, the armor had been invented that would resist the attack of any gun. The submarine boat had been tested that would destroy any battleship, that is, if not caught by the submarine destroyer, which in its turn might succumb to the submarine destroyer-destroyer.

Quite naturally this deplorable condition of worldwide peace frightened the Amalgamated Conclave of War Correspondents, whose members found their occupation gone. Accordingly at a meeting the president arose and presented a resolution for disbandment.

"There are no more conflicts. Cruelty and carnage is a thing of the past. We might as well go into other professions," he said.

Just then Richard Chefoo O'Higgins arose and objected in a speech that proved war correspondents to be still necessary.

"No carnage, no conflicts!" he roared. "Why, the editors can still send us to write up woman's suffrage meetings, college hazing and the Brooklyn bridge crush at six!"

Step Downward.

This is told of a Philadelphian whose mother-in-law was alarmingly ill. One night the physician shook his head, and said impressively:

"She has got to go to a hot climate. Mind, I don't mean to a warm place, but a hot one."

The son-in-law disappeared, but soon emerged from the cellar carrying an ax. Handing it to the doctor, he exclaimed:

"Here, you do it; I can't."—Lippincott's Magazine.

SALT RHEUM ON HANDS.

Suffered Agony and Had to Wear Bandages All the Time—Another Cure by Cuticura.

Another cure by Cuticura is told of by Mrs. Caroline Cable, of Waupaca, Wis., in the following grateful letter: "My husband suffered agony with salt rheum on his hands, and I had to keep them bandaged all the time. We tried every thing we could get, but nothing helped him until he used Cuticura. One set of Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills cured him entirely, and his hands have been as smooth as possible ever since. I do hope this letter will be the means of helping some other sufferer."

A cynic remarked the other day: "An old acquaintance of mine died recently at the age of 95. In all that time the poor, dear fellow hadn't lived more than 20 minutes!"—Puck.

Billion Dollar Grass.

When the John A. Salzer Seed Co., of La Crosse, Wis., introduced this remarkable grass three years ago, little did they dream it would be the most talked of grass in America, the biggest, quick, hay producer on earth, but this has come to pass.

BILLION $ GRASS

Agricultural Editors wrote about it, Agr. College Professors lectured about it, Agr. Institute Orators talked about it, while in the farm home by the quiet fireside, in the corner grocery, in the village post-office, at the creamery, at the depot, in fact wherever farmers gathered, Salzer's Billion Dollar Grass, that marvelous grass, good for 5 to 14 tons hay per acre and lots of pasture besides, is always a theme worthy of the farmer's voice.

Then comes Bromus Inermis, than which there is no better grass or better permanent hay producer on earth. Grows wherever soil is found. Then the farmer talks about Salzer's Teosinte, which produces 100 stocks from one kernel of seed, 11 ft. high, in 100 days, rich in nutrition and greedily eaten by cattle, hogs, etc., and is good for 80 tons of green food per acre.

Victoria Rape, the luxuriant food for hogs and sheep, which can be grown at 25c a ton, and Speltz at 20c a bu., both great food for sheep, hogs and cattle, also come in for their share in the discussion.

Doan's Kidney Pills Brought Strength and Health to the Sufferer, Making Him Feel Twenty-Five Years Younger.

J. B. CORTON.

J. B. Corton, farmer and lumberman, of Depe, N. C., says: "I suffered for years with my back. It was so bad that I could not walk any distance nor ride in an easy buggy. I do not believe I could have raised ten pounds of weight from the ground, the pain was so severe. This was my condition when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They quickly relieved me and now I am never troubled as I was. My back is strong and I can walk or ride a long distance and feel just as strong as I did twenty-five years ago. I think so much of Doan's Kidney Pills that I have given a supply of the remedy to some of my neighbors, and they have also found good results. If you can sift anything from this rambling note that will be of any service to you, or to any one suffering from kidney trouble you are at liberty to do so."

Conviction Follows Trial

When buying loose coffee or anything your grocer happens to have in his bin, how do you know what you are getting? Some queer stories about coffee that is sold in bulk, could be told, if the people who handle it (grocers), cared to speak out.

Could any amount of mere talk have persuaded millions of housekeepers to use

Lion Coffee,

the leader of all package coffees for over a quarter of a century, if they had not found it superior to all other brands in

Purity, Strength, Flavor and Uniformity?

This popular success of LION COFFEE can be due only to inherent merit. There is no stronger proof of merit than continued and increasing popularity.

If the verdict of MILLIONS OF HOUSEKEEPERS does not convince you of the merits of LION COFFEE, it costs you but a trifle to buy a package. It is the easiest way to convince yourself, and to make you a PERMANENT PURCHASER.

LION COFFEE is sold only in 1 lb. sealed packages, and reaches you as pure and clean as when it left our factory.

Lion-head on every package.

CONTRIBUTION.

ENTITLED "CAMERON."

O! have you heard of Cameron town?
The place where the streets go up and down;
The people who live there, the best to be found;
In this beautiful village of Cameron.

We have a good store and two good hotels,
And every Sunday you'll hear the Church bells,
For the large congregation its own story tells,
Of this beautiful village of Cameron.

A fine brick plant we also maintain,
An up-to-date saw mill, a dandy log train,
Coke ovens and coal mines; it is very plain,
We are hustlers down here in Cameron.

We also support a first-class school,
Where the children are taught the Golden Rule
So there's no excuse for being a fool,
If you live anywhere around Cameron.

And last but not least, I must confess,
We are all glad to read the COUNTY PRESS,
It keeps us well posted and of good address;
Here's success to the village of Cameron.

NOT A PATENT MEDICINE

Homei, the Guaranteed Catarrh Cure. Prescribed by Physicians.

No one should confound Hyomei with the patent medicines that are advertised to cure catarrh. It is as far superior to them all as the diamond is more valuable than cheap glass. Their composition is secret, but Hyomei gives its formula to all reputable physicians.

Its base is the valuable eucalyptus oil, famous for its antiseptic qualities. This is combind with aromatic snd healing gums and balsams, making a pure liquid, which when used in the Hyomei pocket inhaler, fills the air you breath with germ killing, disease destroying and healing powers that kills all catarrhal germs there may be in the throat, nose and lungs.

How foolish it is to try and cure catarrh by swallowing tablets or liquids. The only natural way to cure the diseases of the respiratory organs is to breathe Hyomei.

This treatment has been so successful, curing 99 per cent. of all who have used it, that Hyomei is now sold by L. Taggart under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure. You run no risk whatever in buying Hyomei. If it did not possess unusual powers to cure, it could not be sold upon this plan.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs $1.00 and comprises an inhaler, a bottle of Hyomei and a dropper. The inhaler will last a lifetime; and additional bottles of Hyomei can be obtained for 50 cents.

The most unsound religion is that which is all sound.

Letter to E. C. Davy.

Emporium, Pa.

Dear Sir: A big mill-owner, Spartanburg, S. C., wanted 5,000 gallons o-paint, and bought by price; paid 5 cents less than ours; got a "lead-and-zinc" paint; but the lead was sulphate of lead, not carbonate. Sulphate costs about half and covers about half.

That paint was adulterated about six times as much as the 5 cents paid for. He "saved" 5 cents and it costs him 50.

Oh no; it costs him more than that; we forgot the labor. Can't work it out exactly; don't know how long it'll wear.

Short-measure besides; that alone was twice as much as his "saving" 5 cents.

It was thin, too; some loss there; don't know how much.

There was to much dryer in it. The maker made something on that; he didn't.

Taking it altogether, he didn't make much by that 5 cents.

Go by the name; and the name is Devoe lead and zinc.

Yours truly

Womanly Health, Strength and Beauty

Strength and beauty in woman depend entirely upon her health. A woman cannot look her best if suffering from one or more of the many ailments peculiar to her sex. These ailments invariably cause, sooner or later, the loss of her symmetry of form and freshness of complexion.

AUNT DINAH'S OLD VIRGINIA

Herb Tea

Makes Strong and Beautiful Women.

It is a most pleasant and effective remedy for the troubles which cause so much suffering among women the world over. It relieves immediately and eventually cures all cases of disordered menstruation, female weakness, prolapsus, chronic constipation, sick head ache, nervousness and sleeplessness. These are the ailments which deprive a woman of her youth and beauty and make her old before her time. The use of the Herb Tea will enable her to retain these qualities. It clears the complexion and improves the form. A cupful at bed time will give a woman health and strength.

Chicago, April 19, 1903.

Hamlins Wizard Oil Co., Chicago, Ill.:

Gentlemen:—My wife had been suffering with female weakness and extreme nervousness which latter the physician who has been attending her for a long time attributed to her being unable to sleep. After tossing about all night she would invariably rise in the morning with a terrible headache. The doctor seemed to be able to do nothing for her and she was constantly getting worse. She decided to try your Herb Tea and drank a cupful before retiring. In the morning she arose after a good night's rest and without a headache for the first time in months. She has continued taking it during the past three months and has forgotten what a sleepless night means. She is feeling splendid and every one remarks how well she is looking. Her complexion is as clear as a young girl's and her figure has improved wonderfully. Yours truly,
